

MAA Begins New Partnership with NASA Federal Credit Union

The results from a recent member survey indicate that MAA members want access to financial tools that will make their life easier. We immediately took on the task to determine what financial institution could meet this objective. After a rigorous process and many meetings, it is our pleasure to announce that the members of MAA are now eligible to join NASA Federal Credit Union.

Mathematics Is The Foundation For Successful Financial Management

Because of the shared passion for mathematics among MAA members and those who study space exploration, we believe a partnership between NASA FCU and MAA is a natural fit for both organizations. MAA members will enjoy the affiliation with NASA FCU – a credit union that has met the financial needs of employees at organizations such as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for over 60 years. Similarly, NASA FCU takes pride in adding MAA to its growing field of professional organizations. As MAA strives to meet the needs of those who have an interest in the mathematical sciences, NASA FCU equally strives to provide the products and services to help people achieve their financial goals. MAA and NASA FCU take pride in giving back to the communities we serve. MAA members now have access to scholarships, better loan rates and low-cost services.

We've Launched A Life-Long Relationship

MAA provides resources and activities that foster scholarship, professional growth and collaboration among its membership. Having a similar objective, NASA FCU is committed to providing a wide choice of financial services over a lifetime delivered with the values of honesty, integrity and professionalism. MAA and NASA FCU operate under a common philosophy – people helping people. As the world of mathematics continuously changes and grows, so does the world of finance. When serving the needs of the technologically savvy MAA membership, you can rest assured that NASA FCU can be your trusted financial partner for a lifetime.

New Partnership, New Discovery

From its humble beginnings when a small group of National Aeronautics and Space Administration employees formed a financial institution dedicated to helping their colleagues with financial matters, NASA FCU has grown into a strong, nationwide financial resource. Mirroring the history of MAA, NASA FCU's membership grew among a community that values discussion and achieves success by building knowledge among its membership base. Both MAA and NASA FCU strive for excellence by remembering that our business is serving our members. This partnership represents our commitment to bring the best in benefits to you. You're invited to take part in this new venture by joining NASA Federal Credit Union. Along with the many benefits you currently receive from MAA, you'll also have access to an array of financial tools and services to help you achieve a brighter financial future.
