

Book 11

Definition 7

A plane is said to have been similarly inclined to a plane, as another to another, when the aforementioned angles of inclination are equal to one another.