
Preliminary report.

I'll demonstrate a Java or Javascript prototype simulating a complex conversation among a small group of students discussing a mathematics problem. I’ll also discuss its potential for preparing teachers to facilitate learning in collaborative groups. (Received October 12, 2000)