

Poster Session: The Program Review Experience

Most mathematics departments and program across the country are now required to undergo periodic program reviews. Because there are usually large time lapses between these reviews, faculty may be new to the process and feel like undertaking the review is an overwhelming task with little reward for the effort. The posters in this session will address these concerns by having the presenters answer three questions: 1. What was the process that you implemented to complete the program review? 2. What challenges or difficulties did your program overcome in completing this process? 3. What did your program learn (and change) because of the program review? Because the presenters will be from a variety of institutions, session visitors will be able to compare and contrast the requirements and experiences of different institutions. The MAA Committee on Program Review describing its role and the resources that it has available to support the review process.

Organizer: Rick Gillman, Valparaiso University, rick.gillman@valpo.edu